Stewardship Reflections

It is written: The Lord, your God, shall you worship and him alone shall you serve." Matthew 4:10

Tempted between the riches and power of this world and service to God, Jesus chose service to His Father. If we wish to truly follow Jesus, we, too, must decide to turn away from power and riches and put God at the center of our lives. How is God calling you to serve?

FORTALEZA ANTE LA TENTACIÓN

El primer domingo del tiempo de Cuaresma siempre incluye el relato evangélico de la tentación del Señor Jesús en el desierto por el diablo. Este año tiene como trasfondo la primera lectura de Génesis, en la que se narra la primera tentación del diablo que ocurre en el jardín del Edén. El relato del Evangelio transcurre en el desierto. Los creyentes sabemos que la tentación viene tanto en nuestros propios jardines como en los desiertos de nuestra vida. La Cuaresma comienza, y nuestra atención se dirige a esa tentación dentro de nosotros de hacernos como Dios –queremos control, poder y respuesta a todas las difíciles preguntas de la vida. A nuestras comunidades de fe se les ofrece este tiempo de arrepentimiento para que podamos unir nuestro corazón al de otros en el difícil camino de la conversión. Nos volvemos a Dios y hacia los demás buscando fortaleza ante la tentación.

FIRST SUNDAY of LENT REFLECTION

Sunday, March 5, 2017

The word “tender” isn’t always one that comes to mind for me during Lent. However, I love the image in this Sunday’s first reading in which God forms God’s creature out of the clay of the earth and breathes the breath of life to nourish the beloved creature. The closeness and tenderness of this image reflect the relationship that, I believe, God desires to have with each of us. This Lent, I sense I am called to deepen my friendship with God by first remembering God’s tender love for me.

It is because of this tender love that I can then allow God to lead me into a reflection on my own sinfulness, just as the Spirit led Jesus into the desert. In what ways has my relationship with God and with others been fractured? How have I been indifferent to my neighbor? How do my unacknowledged hungers contribute to societal injustices? I believe that these questions — and so many others — are invitations to recognize both my vulnerability and my dependence on God’s grace and mercy. Such a dependence can be all too easy to forget in the day-to-day privilege of my life. Such a dependence fosters a deeper intimacy with God. In my role with the Jesuit Volunteer Corps, I’ve had the honor of visiting communities across the globe who have beautifully modeled such an intimacy with and dependence on God.

Finally, these readings — like God — are overflowing with mercy. Made of the earth’s fragile clay, I know that I depend on mercy again and again. As Vinita Hampton Wright beautifully writes, “Each step and stop and stumble leads right into the open arms of God.” Each step and stop and stumble is also an invitation for me to likewise share mercy and compassion with others, whether I am in direct relationship with someone or whether I am called to mercy on a national or global scale, striving bit by bit for a more just and hopeful world.

As we journey into Lent, this Sunday’s readings call me all the more deeply into this liturgical season through this 3-part invitation: a reminder of God’s tender love; a challenge to recognize the individual and societal sins to which I contribute; and the grace of God’s mercy.
